Medical Assistance until 2016

- Bystanders start to help
- Ambulance crew (limited amount available)
- Mobile Medical Team
- The so called “Geneeskundige Combinatie” assist the ambulance crew in treatment and transport on the spot
- The “Geneeskundige Combinatie” consists of 2 ambulance teams, the MMT and Red Cross volunteers
- The volunteers of the Red Cross can build a shelter with light and heating, if there is no suitable building

Time to change

- The system is old (we need to replace it)
- Nearly never needed
- Medication loss due to expiration date
- Evolution of the ambulance services (quantity)
- Prefer quick definite care in the hospital, in stead of keeping victims in a holding area to stabilize
- Keeping volunteers capable to assist ambulance crew, asks a lot of education and never reaches the required level

Short film GGB

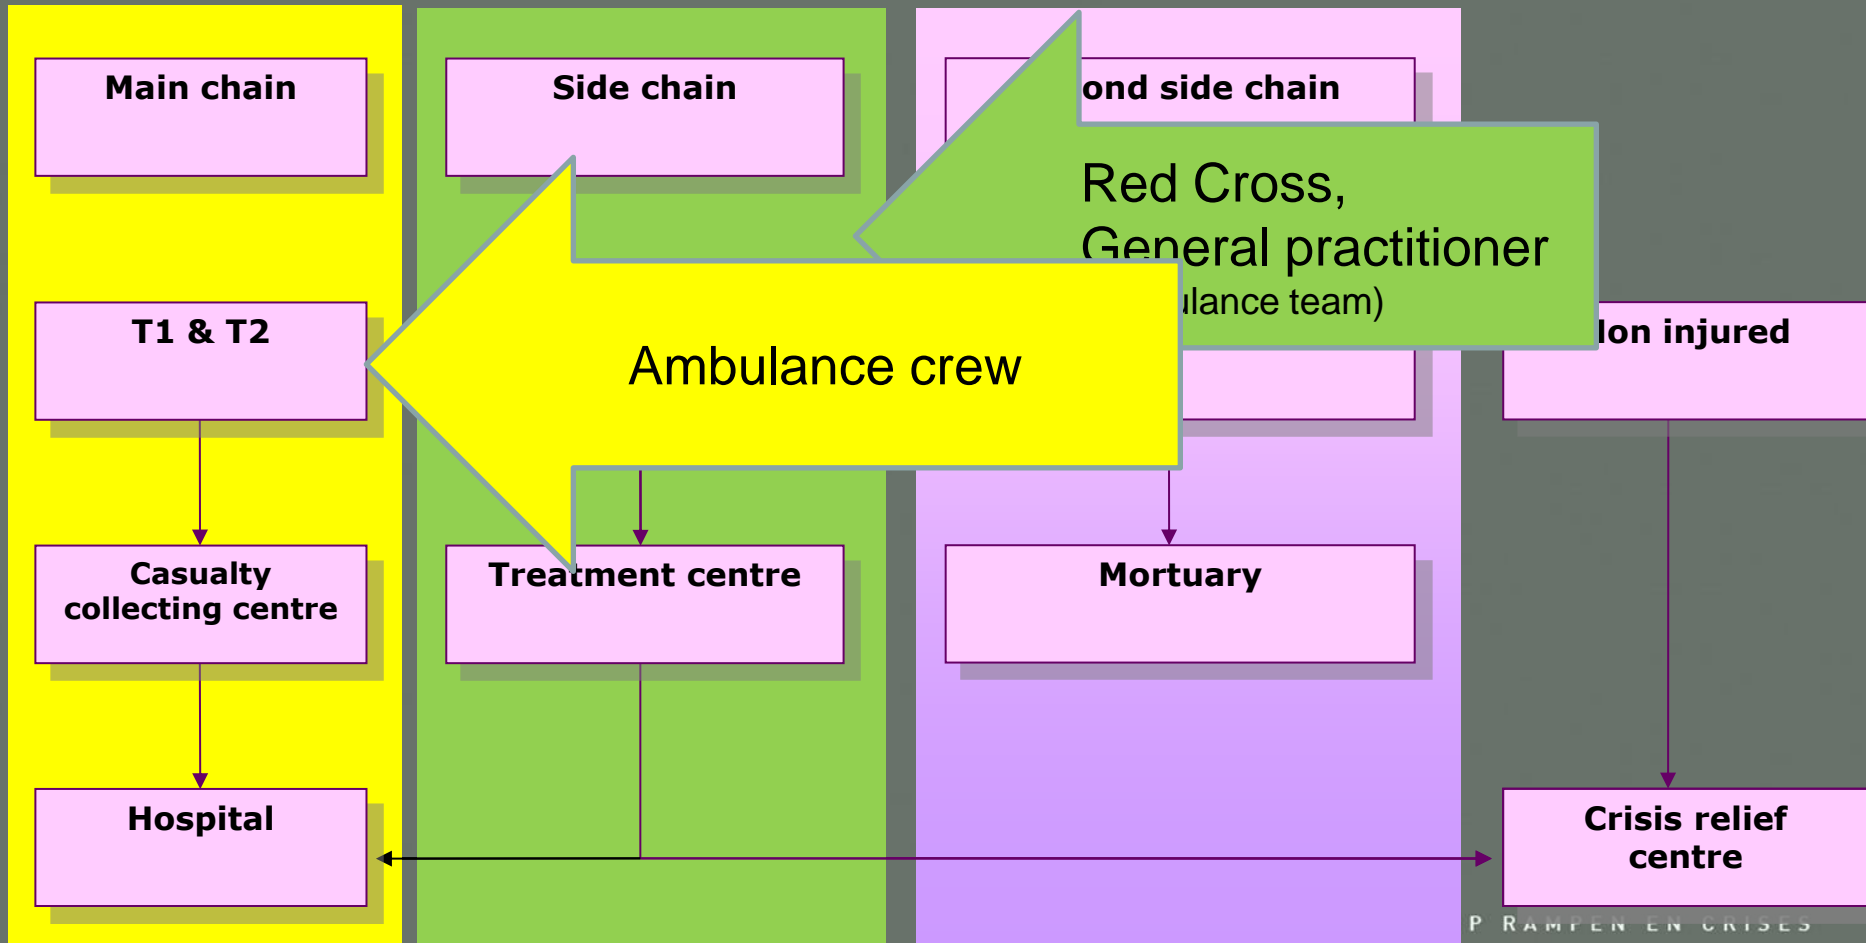

1-1-2016, Large Scale Medical Assistance

- In short time a lot of ambulance teams available
 - Notify free personnel they are needed for a disaster
 - Transport the teams with equipment to the incident
 - Fully equipped teams, capable to support T1 victims
 - They work with their regular equipment (and are used to do so)
- First priority ambulance services: T1 and T2 victims
- Transport as soon as possible, sometimes at once
- Red Cross volunteers take care of the T3 and non injured victims
- The volunteers can build a basic shelter if needed
- A general practitioner or ambulance team for triage in the relief centre
